

Where No One Knows My Name

Enemy You

I try to stop the world everyday With my last breath but it turns away
A million times and a million days hey maybe it'll stop today
No way I'll never let it get the best of me So I think about it constantly Compulsive obsession in my mind and maybe it'll still go away
I wanna go where I can say The words I can't get out of my brain
And where there are no games to play Where nobody knows my name
Sometimes it hurts and logic will never rescue me
Sometimes it hurts, I'm up to here with your fuckin sympathy
Something's ticking like a clock What's that ticking someone make it stop
I want peace of mind and I want it now not just someday, I want it today
There is a place that I can find I want to start over leave this behind
I try to move but I can't stand up and I'm left with nothing to say
I wanna go so far away Where everyone isn't the same
And where are no games to play Where nobody knows my name
Sometimes it hurts, and logic will never rescue me
Sometimes it hurts, I'm up to here with your fuckin sympathy
Sometimes it hurts, I wanna go where no one knows my name
Sometimes it hurts, I know a place and it's not so far away
y