

Run Man Run

Ennio Morricone

Somewhere there is a land where men do not kill each
Other.

Somewhere there is a land where men call a man a brother.
Somewhere you will find a place where men live without Fear.

Somewhere, if you keep on running, someday you'll be Free.

Never, no never no they'll never lock you in.

No never, no never, no never let them win.

Go ahead young man, face towards the sun,

Run man, run while you can,

Run man, run man, run.

Running like a hare, like deer, like rabbit,

Danger in the air, coming near, you can feel it,

And you're panting like hare, like deer like a rabbit,

Running from the snare until fear is a habit.

Hurry on and on and on.

Hurry on and on, hurry on and on

Run and run until you know you're free,

Run to the end of the world 'til you find a place

Where they never never never

No never no they'll never lock you in.

Never, no never, no never let them win.

Go ahead young man, face towards the sun,

Run man, run while you can,

Run man, run man, run.
