

One thought of loss of what is clear a unique species, an endless source without which there is nothing... without which it could not be One thought of loss of what is clear
a unique species, an endless source
without which there is nothing... without which it could not be