Let's Take One More Rocket To The Moon

Erasure

Let's take one more rocket to the moon Before we wake I'll kiss your eyes and lie between While you sleep is all around Just look up in the air and find it Just wish upon a star and find it

It's dawning I'm gently falling The rhythm of water and windows are white Darling soft as your pillow I'm slowly drowning Go spiralling down as you catch your breath

A keychain in your pocket just for luck I hold it in and close my eyes to hide a tear And what we need is all around us Just say a little prayer and find it Just look up in the air and find it

Walking into your life love without knowing I'm out of my mind Calling straight to your heart I'm slowly drowning and morning is here as I catch my breath

And what we need is all around us Just look up in the air and find it Just say a little prayer and find it

Walking into your life love without knowing I'm out of my mind Calling straight to your heart I'm slowly drowning and morning is here
