

Perchance To Dream

Erasure

Perchance to dream
Drive into the waters edge yeah
Splashing all over me
Turning my world upside down
Then I see, and I start to dream as if for the first time
Suddenly as calm as can be skies full of wonder tears asunder
Climb through the cold falling up to meet the road
Something in my head will explode

Oh baby dream, won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me

Tears on gem rocks tear out, tender to strike it with
The loose rock can satisfy the lights of the soft wood.
And then I see, and I start to dream marching in new shine
Stars on my breath scares me the best flickering metal, shadows
Fly through the air, falling up to brush the clouds
Static in my hair I'm rushing out

Oh baby dream won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me

And then I see, and I start to breath as if for the first time
Suddenly, as calm as can be, sky full of wonder tears me under Fly through the cold, falling up to meet the road
Something in my head will explode

Oh baby dream, won't you come and share the world with me
Some time with me
Oh baby dream, won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me
