

You've Got You

Eric Hutchinson

I've got a bone to pick with you and this opportunity i couldn't live this down enough to make up for you and me i feel a swelling in my soul i've been choking up inside i'd bite my tongue just for your sake but i'd swallow too much pride

and who will be sorry first who will be sorry first and if you won't be the one to budge i can tell what i am worth and you've got you to blame for what you do to you there's nothing shocking so it must be true and let me set this record straight on the drama you create before you go and turn your back on me i've got a lot to pay you back i've been saving up for years i'm gonna break you into two now who's gonna hear your tears i've been the friend you never had now you'll never have me bac k i bear a witness to your faults and that line's severely cracke d

and who will be sorry first who will be sorry first
and if you won't be the one to budge i can tell what i am worth
and you've got you to blame for what you do to you
there's nothing shocking so it must be true
and let me set this record straight on the drama you create
before you go and turn your back on me

you're gonna live your life and stay on your side you're not ashamed to try you're more afraid of why this bridge is burning now it's caving in we're never gonna win we'll run in circles till we fall in line and you've got you to blame for what you do to you

there's nothing shocking so it must be true
and let me set this record straight on the drama you create
before you go and turn your back on me

I've got a bone to pick with you and this opportunity
i couldn't live this down enough to make up for you and me
i feel a swelling in my soul i've been choking up inside
i'd bite my tongue just for your sake but i'd swallow too much
pride

and who will be sorry first who will be sorry first
and if you won't be the one to budge i can tell what i am worth
and who will be sorry first who will be sorry first
and if you won't be the one to budge i can tell what i am worth