

A Dream's End

Eternal

I find myself asking you why this drags us down?
Why live with the regrets of yesterday?
I've seen these things one thousand times before
But I'm still cold, waiting for the truth to set me free

Save me from confusion, I've been biding my time
I see clearer now, I've opened my eyes
Dreams will come and dreams will go away again
I don't need them, I've opened my eyes

You keep telling me I've crossed the line the last time
Nothing changes, running round in circles once again
I've heard your words one thousand times before
But I'm still searching, looking for a truth inside of me

Save me from delusion, lift me up above this
I see clearer now, I've opened my eyes
Dreams will come and dreams will quickly disappear
I don't need them, I've opened my eyes

Save me from illusion, show me more to this life
I see clearer now, I've opened my eyes
Dreams will come and dreams will leave you broken
I don't need them I've opened my eyes