

A Soul Undone

Eternal

A subtle gesture, a constant reminder
Of memories etched deep in me
Follow this path and it will lead you in circles
Answers you seek, remain unseen

Hope that spurred me on
Burdened by a soul undone

The shattered remains, splinters of deceit in my side
Face this moment in silence
Feel that I cannot breathe, as I break at the seams
What happened to my self-control?

The man that I've become
Wreckage of a soul undone

I've already seen enough to change my mind
To regret the longing and waste of borrowed time
As reasons come and seasons go I look for solitude
But come a time of change...

No light leads me on
Falter on a soul undone

But come a time of change...
But come a time of change...