

Beneath The Soil

Eternal

In the endless dark it shines
It echoes through these lonely walls
Close your eyes, the light is blinding
Here beneath the soil
Searching for a silver lining
Through the loneliness and scorn
Scratching at my splintered cell
Never to be reborn

On the rocks the tide is rising
Swallowing the world
The black sea so enticing
So infinite and cold
From above the voices ring
They echo through the dawn
I hear the broken words they sing
A final verse to mourn

Beneath the soil
No one hears my words
My cries of sorrow
So I just wait here for tomorrow
Beneath the soil
No one breathes
A living word of life's deceit
So I'll just wait here for tomorrow

Beneath the soil
No one hears my words
My cries of sorrow
So I just wait here for tomorrow
Beneath the soil
No one breathes
A living word of life's deceit
So I'll just wait here for tomorrow