More Than Ever

Time for a breather let it all sink in A pause from the deceiver and to reach deep within I close my eyes if only for a second To let my courage rise All I need is one more reason To fail you as you failed me

Waiting for the waves to break Hoping for the tide to change Embracing the awaiting aim Believing more than ever Believing more than ever

I've tried too many times to leave you Just as many times as I've cried to see you Every road has its end and my end's here And so does my faith

Evergrey