

At The End Of Everything

Everlife

What song will you sing at the end of everything?
Would it be honest? From the deepest part?
Would it rise and fall to the beat of your heart?

The older I get the more it hits me:
This is the song I will sing at the end of everything.

In the midst of chaos,
In the heart of war,
In my darkest hour,
In the strongest storm,
You're all I'm living for.

In the darkness
In the brightest moment is you surrounding me.
(yes, you surround me.)
In the quiet
In the loudest moments I find sweet serenity.
Without you I'd be a travesty.

Where are you rooted?
Where do you find your peace?
Are you caught in a desert?
Are you desperate to leave?

The older you get
The more you will see
The song you will sing at the end of everything.

In the midst of chaos,
In the heart of war,
In my darkest hour,
In the eye of the storm,
You're all I'm living for.

In the darkness
In the brightest moment is you surrounding me.
(yes, you surround me.)
In the quiet
In the loudest moments I find sweet serenity.
Without you I'd be a travesty.

What song will you sing at the end of everything?
What song will you sing at the end of everything?

What song will you sing at the end of everything?
What song will you sing at the end of everything?

The song I will sing at the end of everything:
Without you I'd be a travesty.
It's the song I will sing at the end of everything:
Without you I'd be a travesty.

It's the song I will sing at the end of everything:
Without you I'd be a travesty.
It's the song I will sing at the end of everything:
Without you I'd be a travesty.

In the quiet
In the loudest moments I find sweet serenity.
Without you I'd be a travesty.