She never thought that she would Get her second chance Running so far from all she's ever known

Convinced she lost all meaning Where did her dreams go Still she knew that there was something more

Don't be scared, there's someone there To say these words you need to hear

Don't let anybody tell you who you are (Who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star (Shooting star)

Remember all you wished for Believe it will be true You will never find yourself anywhere else Find yourself in you

Sometimes people tell you Be like me to fit in Do you know your identity is not in them

Don't be scared there's someone there To say these words you need to hear

Don't let anybody tell you who you are (Who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star (Shooting star)

Remember all you wished for Believe it will be true You will never find yourself anywhere else You'll find yourself in you

Why should I measure the world By someone else's design Oh, I won't let this fly by

Hey, look over here I just found the real me Now it's your turn to see Now it's your turn to see

Don't let anybody tell you who you are (Who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star (Shooting star)

Remember all you wished for Believe it will be true You will never find yourself anywhere else You'll find yourself in you

Find yourself in you