

Run Away

Evermore

You and I could be the first ones
Let's make a break for it, shake off the past and run
Do you get the feeling there's more to life?
I guess we'll never know till we take a step outside

You and I can run away, pack out bags for another place
And through it all we'll find find a way so close I can almost taste
The sights that we'll see on this race we will run
It's you that I need, my only one

Looking at the globe that we spun
Let's disappear before they say it can't be done
Throw out the map you made for life
We'll never know the future so just close your eyes and dive

You and I can run away, pack out bags for another place
And through it all we'll find find a way so close I can almost
taste
The sights that we'll see on this race we will run
It's you that I need, my only one

Hold me close in the falling away,
We both know that there's no other way
Take me back to when we were new
And I will chase the horizon with you

You and I can run away, pack out bags for another place
And through it all we'll find find a way so close I can almost
taste
The sights that we'll see on this race we will run
It's you that I need, my only one
My only one, my only one
My only one, my only one
