Makeup

Everybody Else

Cover it up in the bathroom While you curse the mirror on the wall You can change anything that you want to But your hand is shaking when teacher calls

One desk away, I am begging to say "What are you so scared of?"

You're putting on makeup You don't believe in love What are you so scared of?

Three cigarettes and a razor Some old ticket stubs (with) on the grass You're looking for entertainment But you're so bored with yourself Never

Then she ran outside But you're rolling your eyes What are you so scared of?

You're putting on makeup You don't believe in love What are you so scared of?

You got a long walk home But you've got headphones Your bangs in your eyes You need a big shove What are you so scared of?

You're putting on makeup You don't believe in love What are you so scared of?

What are you so scared of?
