

Synthia, Where's R2?

Everyone Dies In Utah

Everyday is better
Than the last
What do you have to Show but a forgotten past

I'm on top of the world
Your words mean nothing to me
Everything that I have
Is no thanks to you

This won't hurt a
Bit, too much for you to handle
Everything that I've said was real
You are nothing
Insignificant

My friend, I told you I would overcome you
Defeat the painful words you said
And now I'm moving on, moving up

Persecution does not work with me
Just look where I'm at
I am stronger than that

I'm on top of the world
Your words mean nothing to me
Everything that I have
Is no thanks to you

My friend, I told you I would overcome you
Defeat the painful words you said
And now I'm moving on, moving up

Unlike you and those backstabbing friends
You belong at the bottom of the ocean with some weights around your heads
It's not my heart
But it's what you've chosen
And now again you're losing

Breathe in breathe out
Of everything that
You've done
The lies spill from your mouth
And pour from you tongue
What makes your better
What makes you think you're alive
I have seen who you are
You're nothing but a coward inside
Go and hide and run
Like the rest
While I go and live for myself

And I wanna remember you as
This, so selflessly loving
And I wanna remember this like
Then, when you cared for the others
This like

When you cared for us all
But you've lost your way
Just remember when you hear my name
I've already won