Origin Of Oblivion

Release my sense awareness Death to the world, we still have connection Become one with the structure Looking on their projections Soon to be moving forward Our foresight has always been so blind Answer calls universal Listen to that you find

Swallowed by blame Subconscious reclaimed I wander this earth regained

I am witness to all creation Origin of oblivion You are warned

Abandon all hope, he who enters Suffer the pains that be Abandon all hope, he who enters Death becomes machine

Bound as servants we would be I will never become machine

Beware for gone is order Even when they promise to protect you Destroy me to revive me Replace cause to become me Reason with hell and rapture Give to the world a measure of decay Never be as my visions Still minutes fall away

Swallowed by blame Subconscious reclaimed I wander this earth regained

I am witness to all creation Origin of oblivion You are warned

Abandon all hope, he who enters Suffer the thoughts that be Abandon all hope, he who enters Death becomes machine

What you seek you'll find Where the unreal meets the skies If only you could see what i've seen With your eyes

Bound as servants we would be I will never become machine More than human we could be I will never become machine Evile

Swallowed by blame Subconscious reclaimed I wander this earth regained

Abandon all hope he who enters Death become machine

Become machine

I will never become machine I will never become machine I will never become machine I will never become machine I will never become machine I will never become machine