To Sleep Eternally

Evoken

Allured from unhallowed realms The most guileful of luminosity A macabre dance that speaks of imminent death To which, now, I gaze in awe and silently sigh In guilt I draw ever so close as the eyes of twilight dissolve in the descending heavens Souls torn by envy and grief Forever to reach out beyond the black stone I finally embrace your bleeding heart You who passes before me, have been the serene haunting of my sleep Too long have I feared this day Your whispers envelop tears for what is yet to come Shall we ever meet in myth again My sorrow shall reflect passion For I must bid farewell, to sleep eternally Beneath the earth