Forced to enslavement, traces of Thracian blood Sentenced to the land of Capua... named Gladiator Bounded by chains, a hero of slaves to rise and army bigger than dismay The thirst of freedom, greater than the will of death, greater than the oath of mankind Spartacus to defy, the Roman way of life Thousands of men ready to die, soldiers of Rome ready to strike... Spartacus! "Pompey Magnus, Crassus... gather the men, I need you to crush this rebellion, one by one & When you do, you shall crucify them, along the Appian way, and show the world none, shall defy Rome!" Legions Engage... Broken & defeated, retreat to southern Italy Gather reinforcements, Crassus in pursuit He will not stop, to lead his rebellion Until the day, he dies for his freedom The thirst of freedom, greater than the will of death, greater than the oath of mankind Spartacus to defy, the Roman way of life Thousands of men ready to die, soldiers of Rome ready to strike... Spartacus!

"Come on Men,

I don't have all night,

there's still 4,000 to be crucified" - Crassus
