

Crossing of the Alps

Ex Deo

I can smell the bodies burning in the earth
Hispania has fallen, Rome at my grasp
My patience is vast, resolve absolute
Lex Talionis!

My order arrives, I'll bring you your fate
No one will stop this dominance rise
Unleash my wrath, thunder from Carthage
Roma will perish!

One will save the world from demise
One will walk this earth triumphant
One will roam with the beasts of the world
One Will Decimate All

Decimate All!

Can you see my rage bleed through my veins?
Can you see the future engulfed in Carthage?

I'll break through your gates
Thousands of men, forty beasts at hand, Celtics by my side
Blood in the Roman rivers
Resistance will fall, one by one, sword by sword
I will be king... King of the world...

Father, give me your strength
Impossible shall be possible...
We will find a way, or make one,
By the grace of my ancestors

I Am Hannibal

Give me your strength, pillar of gods
My hands are frozen but my soul is on fire
The cold is my shelter
My faith is alive but my body is dying
Lift me again from the sounds of wisdom, to the sounds of destruction...
To the sounds of the angels that will make me reborn
I will rise from the depths of glory to lead this army into the bowels of Rome...
To the Bowels of Rome

I'm here at your foot steps
Let the sirens sing the sounds of Conquest

Can you hear my marching soldiers?
Can you hear my voice fade into the night?
I am here... I am here...