You said you'd be there until the fuckin end
You said you'd be there until the fuckin end
You, you didn't want me then, you said you'd be there until the end
You said you'd be there until the fuckin end

Well, where the fuck are you now?
You're nowhere to be found
No need to tell me what I already know
I know exactly who you are (who you are)
I can see right through you like glass

You were there for the climb
No one to catch me for the fall
You're a fraud, a counterfeit, a fuckin fake

You have no sense of loyalty

You said you'd be there until the fuckin end
You said you'd be there until the fuckin end
You didn't want me then, you said you'd be there until the end
You said you'd be there until the fuckin end

You used to, used to be the world (the world) to me
You used, you used to mean (you used to mean) the world to me ( the world to me)

(Do you remember me?
To me you're just a distant memory
You're only gonna fade away.)

Do you remember me?
To me you're just a distant memory
(You're only gonna fade away.)
You're only gonna fade away.

Do you remember me?
To me you're just a distant memory
You're only gonna fade away.
(You're only gonna fade away.)

(Do you remember me?
To me you're just a distant memory
You're only gonna fade away.)
