

Focus

Expire

You can fake it so easily put on a show for everybody to see just to hold the attention of those impressed with empty conversation but your opinion could never budge me you can try, you'll never see it through my eyes you talk until you're blue in the face put everything you had into a world that despised you focus on my mind, focus on my strength nothing to offer or relate to so quick to turn away so quick to hate you I built it up, and I fucking said I burned that bridge, I don't regret it