Run for Tomorrow

People of the village gather round Before the cross aflame, burns down Hallowed be thy land and sea The victims of their tyranny We run with passion - run with might We run with fear - run from fright

We're forced and chased from our home We travelled far, to lands unknown Our kingdom's rule has fallen apart We've left our warriors with brave hearts Men of steel with the razors edge From their swords, many have bled Try to escape - try to fight Try to conquer - with all of our might

Run for tomorrow - towards the rays of the sun Don't give up - the fights just begun Run for tomorrow - don't turn your back, just run Run for tomorrow - by the way of the stars Follow it up, tomorrow is ours Run for tomorrow, don't turn your back, just run

Our faulty rulers' days are done We try to seek cover, but there is none The days of old, the long days have passed The sands of life, are fading fast Words of prayer, hold us abound A land of peace - we haven't found Time and life, our soldiers foe Run for tomorrow - and so we are told Exxplorer
