

Bloodless

F.O.B.

In the very first time I don't understand
I have to read twice
And then it comes clearly to my mind
These little collisions slow me down
Make me hesitate
And steal the chance for quick response

Now I know you well enough
You can't pretend anymore

But then I know and I can feel
How the gear wheels start to spin
It's the time when your end
Is next step closer can you feel
Next step closer

And you never feel safe...
Now I know you well enough
Through blood red horizon
Into blood red moon
Like the premonition
Of bad signs in your head

You can not fake me
With your empty words
That you breed like flies
And I still know the direction
I still can sail in the sea of lies

Now I know you well enough
You can't pretend anymore

There is an emptiness in my veins
And my heart goes silent
Through my eyes you can look inside
Like I'm remaining bloodless

There is an emptiness in my veins