

For You

Face to Face

I have given everything
I have questioned my own faith
Disbelief and discontent
I still remember why I wanted this
For you

When you stumble, when you fall
They talk about it all
When you fall apart
Is it right for me to wait?
When it might be too late
And still I play the part

I've pretended I'm alright
I have told a thousand lies
I've become what I despise
I have changed a dozen times
For you

I've searched for something I can't find
Accept the truth with peace of mind
