

I'm Not Afraid

Face to Face

i didn't want a second chance now that's exactly where i am back where i didn't want to be back where i knew you'd find me out i've never been afraid of you i never will admit the truth i know there's something i can do i'm not afraid to face myself but is it me or something else? makes me exactly what i am that's something i will always doubt