

The World in Front of You

Face to Face

Stopped the fighting you don't care at all
Gave up trying you don't care at all
Something's dying you don't care at all
Sick of crying you don't care at all

Here we go
Lining up, taking sides
Waiting so long
Too ashamed, too much pride

Will unbending you don't care at all
No one's listening you don't care at all
Something's missing you don't care at all
Stop pretending you don't care at all

I was hoping for a chain reaction
I was waiting for the satisfaction
You were nothing but a brief distraction
I can't see the world in front of you