

What's In A Name

Face to Face

open-minded educated popular and medicated now and you still won't make it filled with silent indignation blind with hopeless expectation now and you still won't make it so you're afraid that they will think ill of you get a load of me now and if you're scared they couldn't care less of you get over yourself now it's fame and popularity i'll never understand if it feels like this is what you need you'll never understand innocence and innocence confidence and acquiescence now and you still won't make it self-consciousness is not a virtue everyone is looking at you now you may never make it
