Fact

Before I get home
I have to through your town
Each time I pass through I remember
When you told me it was over
I got off night before
The siren splits the air is light into darkness

As you run up stairs, not coming back
You try to erase me, paint me back
Don't try to look back
Just hold on to the memory

As you run up stairs, not coming back
You try to erase me, paint me back
Don't try to look back
Just hold on to the memory

All the light turn into dark
It feels like I was abandoned
No-one looks in my direction
Separation, left alone
Feels like it's forever
The siren splits the air is light into darkness

As you run up stairs, not coming back
You try to erase me, paint me back
Don't try to look back
Just hold on to the memory

As you run up stairs, not coming back
You try to erase me, paint me back
Don't try to look back
Just hold on to the memory

No-one even tries to see me
Separation, has left me alone

If I tried to stop you this time
Would you remember?
If I tried to tell you this time
Would you remember?

You can't start this over
Now that we've grown colder

You can't start this over
Now that we've grown colder

Just hold on the memory
