

I see you standing on the precipice
Why do you want me to help you fall down?
Can you show me how it is that you live?
I see you standing on the precipice
Why do you want me to help you fall down?
Can you show me how it is that you live?

(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(Not ready to go down)
(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(The time is now for us to get up and be strong)

All your words count for nothing at all

The words you put upon our table are those with which you seek control
But what is it you want to gain?
Our hearts or simply just the gold?
And those who come around you now, well they don't understand the truth
But maybe when they figure out the faults
They'll come to see the fault was not their own

So forget it all, the rise and fall, that you've been thrown away
So forget it all, the rise and fall, that you've been thrown away
So forget it all, the rise and fall, that you've been thrown away

(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(Not ready to go down)
(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(The time is now for us to get up and be strong)
(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(Not ready to go down)
(Never fall, never fail, never fall)
(The time is now for us to get up and be strong)

Even if you lose your way
And fall down, there's another day
To start again, it's not the end
If life's a road, it's just a bend

Hope that your words don't spell your end
(Hope that your words don't spell your end)

Spell your end
Spell your end
Spell your end
