

The Age Of Innocence

Fade

When we're young and unafraid
We know what we need
Full of dreams and faith
Growing to ideals

Everything can be
Whatever you want it to
It feels like you are in control

All the paths that we have chosen to take
What we have chosen to take
Starts to fade away

The age of innocence
Can take you above the skies
But we all tend to forget
How it all started at first
As we add the years
We loose vision of ourselves
Never realizing
Where the mind begins
Where the mind begins to take control

Every day and night you think
The choice you made was right
But deep inside yourself
Know that it's all wrong
Believe in what you felt
Cause nothing can get more real
So let yourself depart

The age of innocence
Can take you above the skies
But we all tend to forget
How it all started at first
As we add the years
We loose vision of ourselves
Never realizing
Where the mind begins
Where the mind begins to take control
