Gone

Failure

The name escapes me now but once i remembered in place of wonder not long ago there was no (name or two) the wonders of this place always amazed always deceived

Nothing had a place
nothing had a purpose
until i found out
all things had their mission the sky was not so high the sea not so frightening always amazed
all things had their mission
purpose
purpose
purpose
purpose