

Bright Bulbs & Sharp Tools

Fair to Midland

now heaven knows i got one short damn fuse so come sit down a spell while i light up the room if walls could talk they'd be know-it-alls so we live in the sticks and aren't some fish you can catch and it makes my skin crawl i'm not the sharpest tool in the shed, so what's she use? she knew he flights like hell because he wants to glow and would tackle the sun to be a bright bulb i wonder if he'll wake us up in time he's gray and has to hide somewhere in between black and white

'cause it's safe, but never was brave before it's over
i hope he takes you too

they say attack can be your best defense and i got mother's smile and both my dad's fists if john doe escapes, carry his name and when it's time to sign ask where not why and it makes my blood boil those black letter days all their mail just winds up lost

before it's over

you'll see whispers in the winter my temper doesn't laugh and every spring, i hear them sing oh every spring, i hear them sing if he's goin' down if he's goin' under the ground

you too
