Tell Me I'm Wrong

Fair Warning

I see you smile - such a silent smile A bittersweet emotion -From deep inside your eyes

And sometimes in the night -As you whisper in your sleep You reach out like you used to And then it cuts so deep

For the love that I am sending -Now it's drifting with the wind And the faith I'm still pretending -It's a fight my heart can't win

Just tell me I'm wrong -Just tell me this love ain't gonna die Just tell me I'm wrong -Whatever you need I'll make it right Just don't keep me hanging on, girl -To a dream your heart can't find Don't you know - it's breaking mine

I roam the streets -Trying to read your mind A drifter going nowhere -For now these eyes are blind

But somewhere in that night -There's a dream that drives me on No matter what it takes now -'Cause still it seems so strong

But the love that I am sending -Now it's drifting with the wind And the doubts they're never ending -It's a fight my heart can't win

Just tell me I'm wrong -Just tell me this love ain't gonna die Just tell me I'm wrong -Whatever it takes I'm gonna try Just don't keep me hanging on, girl -To a dream your heart can't find Don't you know - it's breaking mine

Just tell me I'm wrong -Just tell me this love ain't gonna die Just tell me I'm wrong -Whatever you need I'll make it right Just don't keep me hanging on, girl -To a dream your heart can't find Don't you know - it's breaking mine
