

The Cowboy Song

Faith No More

Tears fall, they scarred your innocent dreams Loves fall, they kinda leave you empty Leaves fall, the seasons pass you by
And you think that maybe you can fly

Ceilings fall, which each romance your incur Clouds fall, which each moment of despair Buildings fall, the pavement is their bed
But what's the last thing that goes through your head ?

You take the elevator to the top
The next thing you know
There you are standing on the edge
And all the flashing lights and futile cries
they left with you now Just close your eyes and take that final step

Rains fall, they dampen your will to live Gods fall, which each pleasure that you give You fall, and take the whole world with you But will you even bother to look down ?

You take the elevator to the top
The next thing you know
There you are standing on the edge
The circumstance it turns you inside out
So we can have peace
Before you find out what's inside your head

What's inside your head!

You take the elevator to the top
the next thing you know
there you are standing on the edge
the circumstance it turns you inside out
so we can have peace
before you find out whats inside your head
and all the flashing lights and futile cries
they left with you now
just close your eyes and take that final step (2x)