Miss U Less, See U More

Faithless

O Woman

I love the way you're so deliberate, How you light your cigarette Head on one side as you pull, you look almost regal. I'm digging it, on your mobile, one eye closed Blue smoke curling out your nose Wearing one of my shirts and what some call panty hose Cause you look wicked in scanty clothes, Long legs like an antelope You're my antidote to city life, my pretty wife Hooked up the year before Together thirteen outta twenty four And you would never guess I wanna miss you less and see you more, See you more, see you more, see you more

And when I kiss you I'm never sure How do I get to miss you less and see you more?

Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better!

I can gauge your mood, from your approach to food You use ya rude red shoes to accessorize your attitude Desensitized to my roving eyes, and ready smile I get loving that's versatile, Worth that extra smile lying next to me Your textured voice whispering, I'm listening with my whole skin Holding onto the moment for all its worth How could I continue to be the sky without my earth

And when I kiss you, I'm never sure, And when I kiss you, I'm never sure, And when I kiss you, I'm never sure, How do I get to miss you less and see you more?

Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better! Miss you less, see you more, love to know you better!
