

Entering Eternity

Falconer

Riding through the echoes of the past
While the hooves pound to the ground
Looking through the mist of the night
In the dim and covering light of the moon

Pale cold moon be my guide
Through this forest of the dawn
Enchanted wolves lead the way
To the land of infinity and destiny

I am entering eternity, unfolding a new day
My future waits for me to take me far away
I am opening realities never known before
Here will my soul fly free forevermore

New dimensions open for me
As I reach my final horizon
Entering the world of the spirits
Dwelling on the shadow side of the living world

I am entering eternity, unfolding a new day
My future waits for me to take me far away
I am opening realities never known before
Here will my soul fly free forevermore

I'll be the soul of the wild hawk
The whispering in the blowing wind
Or at the misty glade

I'll be the beast as the hunting wolf
Or the prey as the hunted hind
I'll be riding rays of light
Or lurking in the night's shade

I am entering eternity, unfolding a new day
My future waits for me to take me far away
I am opening realities never known before
Here will my soul fly free forevermore

I am entering eternity, unfolding a new day
My future waits for me to take me far away
I am opening realities never known before
Here will my soul fly free forevermore