

Die For You

Falling in Reverse

I admit that I'm far from perfect
Who are you to judge me like I'm worthless
I will not conform or be your puppet
I will never trust you cause the loyalty is dead

I would've died for you
I'm killing myself hanging on your words
And it goes to show how bad it hurts
For what it's worth
Some things are better left unsaid

You won't
Destroy me
This is
Your warning
I have a dark side
I have an army
Within me's
A secret
A thousand years
Of torment
Caged up like monster
Forever I will wander

I would've died for you
I'm killing myself hanging on your words
And it goes to show how bad it hurts
For what it's worth

Break it up!

I'm no longer able to believe in what we're fighting for
Your lying soul will burn below and I hope that it happens slow
Tell that bastard that you call your father if you bother
That he should have raised you with a heart and taught you a bit of honor

Go!

The world as we know it is a motherfucking battle ground

I would've died for you
I'm killing myself hanging on your words
And it goes to show how bad it hurts
For what it's worth

I would've died for you
Hanging on your words
I would've died for you
For what it's worth

Better left unsaid, said, blah!
