

Who You Are

Falling Up

You were born into the lonely of earth
As a traveler to dust you return
Every star is just a map to some end
Where all the weight of every misstep lives
But just know that

Who you are is golden
Who you are has always been enough
Who you are is such a miracle
You're such a miracle

From the shadow sided angle of the earth
There's a grace that covers landscapes forever
And from the constellation canvas I shot
Counterbalances to offset your heart

You have leapt beyond
Fields before the tents
Where lit up with lights
Are tens upon thousands
So come now don't you cry
I know where you live
And once I'm in your heart
My voice will be trembling