

I can see your smiling faces watching others check the time but that's ok cause I wouldn't have you see me this way

I know it's not your style to care you wear your status well apathetic wax poetic but they can hear you

Well, the rope wasn't long enough to hang us both
but the view from here
is so much clearer
You didn't have to be so tough
You and me both know there's no such thing as fitting in (there's no such thing as fitting in)

I took my complaints to the afterlife but they were shot down I guess it's not my time to argue with the angels and the saints

This may sound out of context out of focus, out of control But baby should this be any different than those times before?

Well, the rope wasn't long enough
to hang us both
but the view from here
is so much clearer
You didn't have to be so tough
You and me both know
there's no such thing as fitting in (there's no such thing as fitting in)