

This Masterpiece

Farewell

I open up my mouth to speak you paint the picture of my tongue
I choke until I bleed I open up my eyes to see you mask my face to see the tears
I sob until I sleep

This masterpiece has been covered up with paint
so thick that you can't see
the mess you've made
So here I stand
paralyzed by the cast
you've chiseled away around me

I open up my my hands to feel you break each finger and each wrist but broken arms can't hold I open up my heart to heal
you take your brush and paint it green A jealous heart can't beat

This masterpiece has been
covered up with paint
so thick that you can't see
the mess you've made
So here I stand
paralyzed by the cast
you've chiseled away around me

Renovation hurts
I'm rubble and dirt so let's see what you think you can make from this [2x]

I open up my heart to heal.