

You Had A Call

Faron Young

Did you find a box of your favorite flowers
Did you see a mark where I hand up for hours
Did you find a note that was left beside the light
You had a call from a broken heart last night
Did you see some teardrops just outside your door
I stayed there and cried till I couldn't cry no more
Did you see some footprints oh that stumbled out of sight
You had a call from a broken heart last night
I know I shouldn't love you but I can't help myself
I'd walk right up and kiss you with you holdin' someone else
True love knows no master and it can't tell wrong from right
You had a call from a broken heart last night
I know I shouldn't love you...
That's why you had a call from a broken heart last night
