

Another Perfect Day

Fates Warning

You tell me you love me and I wonder why
The sun is overhead
but I can't see past the clouds in my eye You show me what is real and I just pretend
Another perfect day
and I wonder how it all will end

Another perfect day
and I will hide away
from all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day
and I will walk away
from all the light that surrounds

Shadows embrace this room as I draw the shades tight Close the curtains, shut out the day shut out the light

Another perfect day
and I will hide away
from all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day
and I will walk away
from all the light that surrounds

Lying awake again
restless in this bed Summer night whispers soft but I can't sleep through the noise in my head Soon the sun is rising and I just descend
Another perfect day
and I wonder when it all will end

Another perfect day
and I will hide away
from all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day
and I will walk away
from all the light that surrounds

Another perfect day
for me to hide away
from all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day
for me to walk away
From all the light that surrounds