

Our Nature's Unnatural

Fearless Vampire Killers

Fall between the parapets of guilt's design
My arms clamped to my sides
With every breath's descent
I'm closer to my end
Images of horror flicker out of view
I turn my head to face them
Only shadows reach my sight
I pray please help me
Bring me light

Someone wake me
Someone take me from this hell
Prize open my eyes and break me out of this shell

Our nature's unnatural
Obsession consumes us all
If our minds are wired to march on
Then why are we aching for what's gone?

They strap me to a chair, watch me disintegrate
A tube gagging my throat
They're putting needles in my arms
They said they'd keep me out of harm

Someone wake me
Someone take me from this hell
Prize open my eyes and break me out this shell

Our nature's unnatural
Obsession consumes us all
If our minds are wired to march on
Then why are we aching for what's gone?

The dormitory room falls dark
And now I'm naked
Shivering, and this fear takes control

It's so cold
Like midwinter snows
The voices are dull
But somehow they rage through
Screaming save
God save us all

Our nature's unnatural
Obsession consumes us all
Our nature's unnatural
This longing entombs our souls

Our nature's unnatural
Obsession consumes us all
Our nature's unnatural
This longing entombs our souls

Our nature's unnatural
Obsession consumes us all
If our minds are wired to march on

Then why are we aching for what's gone?
