

Waiting For Changes

Feeder

Office blocks, corner shops, traffic jams on every street
The same old rush around
Obsolete, I'm a freak, in a show on Brighton Beach
As the snow comes down
Reality's kicking me, knocking me right off my feet
As the sky spins around

We're waiting for changes, rejected and dented
We're waiting for changes, the light's green but today's red

Laundry stops, by the lock
On a Sunday afternoon with all that fuss
Canteloves skateboard shows, tenants
Extra by a row of recycle bins

We're waiting for changes, rejected and dented
We're waiting for changes, the light's green but today's red
We're waiting for changes, a different perspective
We're waiting for changes, the light's green but today's red

Take a ride to Charing Cross, join the masses as they shop
Their lives away
29's the northern line, heading back to lose their minds
To break the chain

We're waiting for changes, rejected and dented
We're waiting for changes, the light's green but today's red
We're waiting for changes, different perspectives
We're waiting for changes, the light's green but today's red

I'm waiting for changes
I'm waiting for changes
I'm waiting for changes
I'm waiting for changes
