I Will Die With My Head In Flames

I was thrown into this world and I will leave with nothing left to show you can keep your false hopes and I will die with my head in flames

And your faces tells me there's something going wrong today there's something going wrong today

I was thrown into the lions then I did not care what happened can't you see it's all the same that's why I'll die with my head in flames