

Pale Paper

Fences

You and I are running through the city at night
And all the lights tell me that I'm wasting my time

Over and over and over it goes
Over and over and over it goes

No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down

You're the line running through my journals at night
And all the time told me that I'm wasting my time

Over and over and over it goes
Over and over and over it goes

No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down

Back when you owned me, my heart wasn't holy
God wasn't writing to know
Back when you owned me my heart wasn't holy
God wasn't writing to know, and I wasn't writing to know

No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
No more talking I know you've given up, let's just write it down
