One

Ferlin Husky

You hear the silence broken by an old familiar voice Could it be your talkin' to the walls You've tossed for just a moment and then you realized That it's just a mem'ry callin' and that's all A day that last forever is nothin' but a moment Compared to the night that's yet to come For there's nothing quite as lonely as a bed that's been slpet in by one A day that last forever...