She's Not Yours Anymore

Ferlin Husky

The fact that she's gone has become very real Is this really hurt or regret that I feel All of the things that you're so sorry for Aren't things you can change She's not yours anymore You cheated on her and although she knew She swallowed her pride and kept loving you You promised to change but she'd heard that before Now it's out of your hands She's not yours anymore So now you know Now that you're free What she meant to you She now means to me You were so sure that she wouldn't go You made the mistake of telling her so But now that she's gone You have heartaches in store So live with it friend She's not yours anymore