White Fences And Evergreen Trees

Ferlin Husky

If I could paint pictures I'd paint one for you A picture portraying the love we once knew Then a tear would reveal the sorrow in me As I painted white fences and evergreen trees Love can be greater than the mountains or seas But it's only as great as two hearts believe Faith blew away in yesterdays breeze And we lost our white fences and evergreen trees

I've walked through a valley and cried all night long In search for the reason why true love goes wrong With a prayer on my lips the earth touching my knees I prayed for white fences and evergreen trees Love can be greater...
