

Dark Angel

Fey

Like the day she hides in the night never know when she might strike on the road trust to no one unwilling to compromise. Yesterday she can't bear right now is her only the care to move too far away to make any kind of claim.

Too heavy to hold too deep to see too clear to understand.

She'll never let you go inside there's no compromise her heart is where she draws the line don't you even try in another space, another life right now is not the time her heart is where she draws the line bitter pill sweet advice

Train of broken hearts in her path and that's not more than a mask don't bother if you have to ask cause our soul is your sacrifice. Can't trust what you see can't feel what you touch the truth is in her eyes beauty is the disguise.

Too heavy to hold too deep to see Too clear to understand.

She'll never let you go inside there's no compromise her heart is where she draws the line don't you even try in another space, another life right now is not the time her heart is where she draws the line bitter pill sweet advice

Angel of darkness Let her fly Loving her is a crime

She'll never let you go inside there's no compromise (let her fly) her heart is where she draws the line don't you even try (loving her is a crime) in another space, another life right now is not the time (loving her is a crime) her heart is where she draws the line Bitter pill sweet advice

She'll never let you come inside (let her fly) there's no compromise her heart is where she draws the line don't you even try.
